Extreme Close Quarters Battle

The majority of shootings occur within 5–10 feet, yet most training courses deal with shootings at a distance. This course will teach the student pistol fighting techniques and tactics within arms reach and differs from other basic CQB schools by training the student to be aggressive, not defensive. The student will be able apply the techniques learned in the program to their personal training regimen or their agency's training doctrine. This intense two-day course is designed for the operator, responsible citizen and instructor. Go to Sig web site for more information.
