Dear Friends of Macomb Community College,

I can't thank you enough for supporting our mission of transforming lives and communities through the power of education, enrichment and economic development.

Your gifts directly work to support the aspirations of the college’s students, position community members for workplace opportunities that sustain families and their economic prosperity, and enrich our residents’ quality of life through meaningful cultural opportunities.

It’s the scholarships you sustain that keep students on track when they don't have the personal means to completely fund their own tuition. It’s the investment in college programs and services to ensure Macomb offers relevant education and training that prepares our students for emerging opportunities in the global economy. And, it’s the contributions to Macomb’s enrichment activities that span arts education for children through lifelong learning opportunities for seniors.

Every day, college’s faculty and staff see the results of your generosity. You are making a difference in individual lives as well as strengthening the foundations of our community, quality of life and prosperity.

Thank you for being a champion of Macomb Community College. We value your partnership in amplifying the impact we have on our students and community.

Regards,

James O. Sawyer IV, Ed.D.
President, Macomb Community College
Dear Friends and Colleagues,

As we know, “it takes a village”. This annual report celebrates you, our donors, and the success stories of Macomb students that you helped make possible. We celebrate your commitment to Macomb Community College in finding a reason to give to support our students and “villages” we serve.

Every gift matters. Whether your gift supports scholarship funds, program funds or arts and culture programming, we are able to better serve our students and community because of your generosity. Through your philanthropic support, you are working for the greater good of our students and our community.

Each day, our students work hard to succeed and reach their goals. Many of our students face daily obstacles that are potential barriers to their success. Every gift matters to each of these students. Every gift impacted their future. Your support makes student success a reality.

Macomb Community College faculty and staff members are some of the most generous people I have ever met, and I am continuously impressed by their willingness to give back to the students and community we serve. Macomb employees are caring individuals who put the needs of our students and community before their own.

Together, with your support, we are able to address the needs of our students and help them succeed. Thank you to each of you for your continued generosity. As always, if I can be of any assistance to you, please let me know. I am proud to be a part of your “village.”

Kind regards,

Christina S. Ayar
Director, Macomb Community College Foundation

Scholarships in Both Art and Science Speak to Donor’s Diverse Interests

Don Apfel is a retired General Motors administrator with a passion for the environment. Patricia Apfel was a dedicated theatre-goer who convinced her husband, and sometimes their two sons, to accompany her to shows. And Macomb students are now benefiting from both of their interests.

“My wife introduced me to the performing arts,” reflected Apfel. “But I grew to love them as much as she did.”

In the 1950s and 1960s, the Apfels traveled to downtown Detroit to catch a play or musical at the Schubert or Fisher theatres, where new productions often premiered before making their way to Broadway. After the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts opened in 1982, however, they switched their patronage to the new theatre on Macomb’s Center Campus, much closer to their home in Shelby Township.

“A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, Guys and Dolls, Damn Yankees, How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, Glenn Miller Orchestra,” Apfel ticked off the shows that he and his wife enjoyed at the Macomb Center, as well as a couple of the stars they saw perform there. “Rip Taylor was a riot, and Anthony Lane appeared there before he was a big name on Broadway.”

Apfel still has a collection of playbills and programs from some of the shows he and his wife attended over the decades, suggesting how much he appreciated her influence. When Patricia died 20 years ago, her husband established a performing arts scholarship at Macomb in her honor. The Patricia Anne Apfel Memorial Endowed Scholarship is awarded to students who intend to contribute to the performing arts as a writer, teacher and/or performer.

“I couldn’t think of a better thing to do to pay tribute to her and her interest in the arts,” said Apfel, “and for getting me involved in it as well.”

Before he began attending shows at the Macomb Center, Apfel was most familiar with the college’s South Campus in Warren, where he was a student for two years. He graduated with an associate degree and honors in 1972, transferring to Wayne State University and earning a bachelor’s degree in business. His granddaughter is now attending Macomb on his recommendation.

“I liked Macomb quite well and had a lot of good instructors,” said Apfel, who grew up on the east side of Detroit, the son of a German immigrant (dad) and a native Michigander (mom). “The college is an integral part of the whole Macomb County picture. I like the convenience of it and the affordability. It offers so much opportunity to get an education. I don’t think some of the county’s young people would be able to attend college if Macomb wasn’t there.”

For that reason, Apfel recently established another scholarship for students at the college. This time, he dedicated it to a cause that he has grown as passionate about as his wife was about the arts.

“The rising sea levels and rising temperatures. The chewing up of the tropical rain forests. I’m so concerned about all that’s happening,” related Apfel, whose Donald G. Apfel Environmental Science Scholarship is for students considering careers in the same. “We need more young folks to get into this field and make it their livelihood.”

New GM Dealer Technician Scholarships Encourage Automotive Service Careers

Twelve Macomb students received the GM Dealer Technician Scholarship from the General Motors Co. (GM) to help cover the cost of their studies in its Automotive Service Education Program (GM-ASEP), which is preparing them for careers as automotive service technicians qualified to work on GM vehicles.

“We’re tearing down the barriers that stand in the way of people pursuing these good-paying, high-tech jobs,” said Terry Rhadigan, executive director, GM Corporate Giving, of the scholarship fund established last year. “After two years, we want people to hit the ground running, so we will help them get a quality education, technical training and hands-on experience, without the burden of student loans.”

Macomb was one of seven community colleges in Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania offering GM-ASEP that were chosen to receive the scholarships in spring 2019. The program consists of 80 hours, 38 in classrooms/labs, and 42 hours working at a repair facility. Students must be sponsored by a GM dealership or AC Delco service center, where they will receive both hands-on instruction and a paycheck during their work rotation. Upon successful completion, the student will graduate with an Associate of Applied Science Degree in Automotive Technology and an almost assured full-time job at their sponsoring facility.

“We’re excited to partner with GM to create greater opportunities for our students to connect to good careers and the growing possibilities in automotive technology,” said Don Hutchison, Dean, Engineering & Advanced Technology.”

Distinguished Volunteers Honored

Macomb is a Tie that Binds for Philanthropy Day Honorees

Both Elizabeth Ferguson and Lori Wingert began their lifelong relationship with Macomb as students. That was followed by full-time employment and, eventually, the volunteer work for which they were honored at the Association of Fundraising Professionals, Greater Detroit Chapter, annual Philanthropy Day Dinner, held on November 6, 2019 at The Henry in Dearborn.

“Lori can be found volunteering at every MCC Foundation event, shepherding guests and catering to their every need, always with a big smile and gentle, soothing positivity,” wrote Teri Fields, Donor & Alumni Relations Manager, in her nomination of Wingert for the award. “Elizabeth Ferguson has a passion for her work and community. She has taught her Estate Planning workshop (pro bono) for Macomb’s Society of Active Retirees (SOAR) for approximately six years,” wrote Brianna Bentley, Major and Planned Gifts Manager in her nomination.

Ferguson’s employment trajectory at Macomb began as a student employee in the Human Resources department. She continued working there during her first year of law school at Wayne State University before leaving Macomb to pursue clerkships in law offices. After receiving her law degree and working as an attorney with Lakeshore Legal Aid, Ferguson returned to Macomb as Associate Director of Human Resources. She was promoted to Associate Vice President of Human Resources, leaving the college in 2013 to establish her own law practice. She still teaches part time in the college’s Legal Assistant and Business programs.

“The Foundation does good work in providing scholarships and opportunities for a lot of people,” said Ferguson, who also volunteers her time to serve as a mediator in the court system. “I like teaching, so working with the MCC Foundation as a volunteer teaching people about estate planning is a good fit for me.”

Wingert holds two associate degrees from Macomb in Early Childhood Studies and Business Administration. She joined the college in 2010 and serves as Operations Coordinator for the Lorenzo Cultural Center. She has been volunteering at MCC Foundation events for about as long as she has worked at the college.

“It is a great feeling to meet a donor that is giving in order to help a student or the organization. When you hear their stories and see the joy it brings to them, it warms your heart,” said Wingert, who also volunteers at her church and at Macy’s annual holiday kick-off event – assisting children with holiday crafts. “The other side is to see a student that is struggling and benefits from a scholarship or a program to help them succeed. As a former student, I know it means a lot to see that someone cares.”
Celebration of Donor & Scholarship Recipients

Scholarship was “Light and Hope” to First Generation Student

With her “business family” at a table close by, Aysha Abdul Shahid addressed the donors at the Macomb Community College Foundation’s annual Donors and Scholarship Recipients Celebration in April 2019, telling them, “You have given light and hope to this 21-year-old.”

The MCC Foundation awarded more than $500,000 in scholarships to over 460 students during the 2018–19 academic year. The luncheon celebration provided donors and recipients with the opportunity to meet each other, which was much appreciated by keynote speakers and husband and wife: Don Ritzenhein and Kathy Grenda. Last year, the couple established the Katherine L. Grenda and Donald N. Ritzenhein Endowed Scholarship for Students in the Arts. Their scholarship is designed for students studying communications, humanities or social science at Macomb, disciplines that are near and dear to their hearts. Ritzenhein is Provost and Vice President of Macomb’s Learning Unit. Grenda retired from Macomb in 2014 after serving as Dean of Arts & Sciences.

At the luncheon, the first recipient of the Ritzenhein/Grenda scholarship, Shayla Davis, was seated at the same table as her benefactors.

“The best part about this event is interacting with students like Shayla,” said Grenda, with a nod toward Davis, who transferred to Macomb from Baker College and intends to earn a bachelor’s degree in psychology, followed possibly by a Ph.D. “We love the liberal arts. We love the students and we love Macomb.”

While Grenda and Ritzenhein addressed the audience as representatives of the donors at the event, Shahid spoke as a representative of the recipients. She emigrated alone from India at the age of 17 to earn a bachelor’s degree in accounting. With some support from her parents, she enrolled at Macomb to save money on the first two years of her studies. But when her father became seriously ill back home in India, the family could no longer afford to help Shahid pay for her college education. A part-time job in Macomb’s business office and the Shirley Glass Endowed Accounting Scholarship allowed her to stay in college. Maintaining a 3.9 grade point average, she transferred to Walsh College in the fall on a transfer scholarship to complete her bachelor’s degree.

“The Shirley Glass scholarship meant the world to me. I will be the first generation in my family to earn a college degree,” said Shahid. “Despite the culture shock and everyday struggles...missing my mom and home-cooked meals...Macomb Community College has been very welcoming. I plan to give back someday by being a mentor to high school students.”
Departments across the college teamed up to send a group of students to the 2019 Inforum North American International Auto Show (NAIAS) Breakfast, which included free tickets to the big event itself. But while the auto show at Cobo Center was all about cultivating buyers for new lines and models, the breakfast at the Detroit Marriott was about cultivating the future leadership of the auto industry.

“The Inforum event was one of the many great opportunities I have experienced at Macomb,” said Haley Mueller, who attended the breakfast with seven other students last January as guests of the Macomb Community College Foundation. “I was able to talk with some of the leaders in the automotive industry after the panelists were done. I was also able to give some people my contact information at the event in hopes of landing an internship for the summer.”

Mueller’s experience at the breakfast was just what Inforum intended when it started hosting the event 18 years ago. Founded in 1962 as the Women’s Economic Club, Inforum is a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing leadership development opportunities to women.

The breakfast drew more than 1,000 college and university students, faculty and staff. Addressing the theme: How Artificial Intelligence is Changing Automotive were speakers Alisyn Malek, COO and co-founder of May Mobility Inc.; Jason Mars, CEO and co-founder of CLINC; and Ken Washington, CTO and vice president of Research and Advanced Engineering at Ford Motor Company. Nominating Macomb students to attend were faculty and staff from Engineering and Advanced Technology, Business and Information Technology, and Career Services. Additional support is provided each year by the office of the Vice President of College Advancement and Community Outreach.

“My greatest takeaway from the event was to always be yourself,” said Mueller, “and to work in different departments, if one can, to get a ton of experience.”
Bright Futures Beginning for Public Service Institute Graduates
Brothers Share Father’s Passion for Keeping the Community Safe

When Eric and Ryan Posavetz were growing up, their family pets did more than shake hands and beg for treats. They also sniffed out drugs, found lost children and formed a bond between the boys and their father that would one day influence the sons’ career choices.

“Law enforcement is something I was always interested in ever since I was young,” said Eric Posavetz. “Watching my dad do the job my entire life, I knew it would be something I’d really enjoy.”

His dad is Fred Posavetz, former K-9 handler and current chief of the Clinton Township Police Department, where Eric and his brother Ryan are also employed following their graduation from Macomb’s Police Academy in May 2019. Before deciding to enroll in the academy together, Ryan, who holds a bachelor’s degree from Central Michigan University, was working in physical therapy and Eric, who earned an associate degree in law enforcement from Macomb after transferring from Ferris State University, was focusing on the supplement store he owns in Novi.

“Ryan and I were driving to Ann Arbor for a Michigan football game, and we started talking about becoming police officers because we were both interested in changing career paths,” related Eric. “So we agreed that we would start the academy in January, and we both followed through with it.”

Ryan received a $500 Clinton Township Police Department Honor Guard Scholarship and Eric received a $1,000 Law Enforcement Education Program Scholarship to help pay for their tuition. “The program really consumes your time,” noted Eric of the 15 weeks spent at the academy Monday through Friday, from sometimes as early as 6:30 am to 4 pm. “There is no way you can work, so the scholarship absolutely helped.”

Although inspired to go into law enforcement by his father’s example, as well as that of an uncle who served on the Detroit Police Department, Eric had his own reasons for becoming a police officer. “I genuinely like helping people, and police work is one of the top ways you can make a difference in your community,” said Eric. “If I’m getting drugs off the street, I’m making the community that I currently live in safer.”

Although he and his brother did not sit together in their academy classes, sharing the experience “definitely made us closer,” Eric said. And, the same applies to the fellow police officers he now works with. “I’m working alongside many of my former teachers. I already know them and trust them,” said Eric. “A lot of good came from the academy.”

For the next few years, the Posavetz brothers are required to serve as patrol officers before they can elect to specialize. Growing up with K-9 officers Nondo and Koz, his dad’s partners for many years, Eric already has an idea of what he would like to do next.

“Joining the K-9 unit,” he says, “would be a dream come true.”

Talented Fire Cadet Proud to be Third Generation Firefighter

Fire Academy graduate, Ashley Brouwer, was awarded the Stephen Thomas First Responders Scholarship from Michigan Schools and Government Credit Union on May 6, 2019. Proud to be a third generation firefighter, Ashley is pictured with her father, Paul Brouwer, Jr., Clinton Township Fire Department Battalion Chief and grandfather, Paul Brower, Sr., retired Deputy Chief, Clinton Township Fire Department. Not only is Ashley prepared well as a firefighter, she is also a talented vocalist and sang the national anthem beautifully at Macomb’s Fire Academy graduation ceremony.
Annual Employee Campaign is a Record Breaker

The Macomb Community College Foundation, in collaboration with college employees, made history last year, raising a total of more than $121,500 during the 2019 Annual Employee Giving Campaign (AEC). But the real winners were Macomb students, who also served as the major motivation for employees who contributed.

“There are so many opportunities to give in society, but I have to make a connection with something that is a part of me,” said Guy Hait, Manager, Marketing Services and Business Development, whose department (Conference & Event Services) achieved 100 percent participation in the Employee Giving Campaign. “Assistance like that provided by Macomb’s Reading and Writing Studios helped me finish my bachelor and master degree programs. I want Macomb students to get the same chance.”

A total of 26 college departments made the 100% Club in 2019, a testament to Macomb employees’ dedication to the college and its students. From that pool, the Medical Assistant/Health Information Technology area was randomly selected to receive the coveted AEC Highest Participation Trophy.

Every employee that donates is entered into the weekly drawings and the lucky week five winner, Chad Donaldson, won a pizza party with President Sawyer for his department. Employees in the Telecom & Networking, CIT Service Desk, Computing Services and Technology Operations areas all enjoyed lunch with Dr. Sawyer.
Oktoberfest Raises Money for Students Studying Abroad

German food and good cheer were flowing at the Lorenzo Cultural Center in September 2019 when it hosted Oktoberfest, the annual fundraiser for culinary arts students interested in studying abroad.

Entertainment was provided by Siasswasser (fresh water) Tanzimusi (dancing music), an authentic Bavarian band. Dinner featured traditional German fare, including bratwurst and sauerkraut, prepared by students in Macomb’s Culinary Arts Program. The dinner was accompanied by Bavarian beer and wine.

Currently, several culinary arts students are signed up to travel with faculty to Portugal and Spain this spring on a tour of the two countries. Stops will include Lisbon, Seville, Madrid and Barcelona, with a focus on traditional foods.

Please raise your bierkrug and say prost to Oktoberfest’s 2019 generous sponsors!
The Macomb Community College Foundation’s sixth annual Comedy & Cocktails gala set both attendance and fundraising records on October 18, 2019, with 350 guests and more than $80,000 raised in support of the college’s arts and cultural programming.

“It’s this type of outpouring of community support that makes it possible for us to continue to provide enriching arts and cultural programs that both educate and entertain audiences of all ages,” said James Sawyer, college president. “We are thankful for our donors’ generosity and engagement, ensuring meaningful arts and cultural experiences are available to our community.”

Presented by First State Bank, Comedy & Cocktails featured a cocktail reception and silent auction followed by a seated dinner in the Lorenzo Cultural Center. Entertainment was provided by Scared Scriptless, starring Colin Mochrie and Brad Sherwood from the comedy show Whose Line is it Anyway.

The event also brought together the college’s last three presidents, as seen in the photo: James Jacobs, president emeritus; James Sawyer, current president; and Albert Lorenzo, president emeritus.

Alumni and Retirees Enjoy Network of Friends and Colleagues

Like high school students at a homecoming pep rally, there is no short supply of school spirit when Macomb alumni and retirees get together.

During 2019, alumni and retirees decorated and rode in Macomb’s entry into the St. Patrick’s Day Parade in Naples, Florida, competing for attention from the crowd of 40,000 with floats from other colleges and universities with a strong presence in Florida. The Naples event was sponsored by Walsh and Lake Michigan Credit Union. Alumni, retirees and friends joined staff for Macomb Night at Little Caesars Arena during a Red Wings game in February and at Jimmy John’s Field in August, the latter sponsored by First State Bank.

Many alumni also returned to the college in 2019 to attend reunions and continuing education/networking opportunities offered by the Veterinary Technician, Medical Assistant and Nursing programs. The MCC Retiree Association remained active, with its annual fall breakfast and holiday luncheon, as well as an excursion to the Detroit Institute of Arts, with bus transportation provided by the museum. Both alumni and retirees, as well as staff, participated in the 30th annual Orris-Corey Memorial Golf Outing to benefit student scholarships.

“Thirty years at the college gave me the opportunity to help make a difference for students and the community while enjoying the friendship of many wonderful colleagues,” said James Varty, retired Dean of Students, who maintains his association with the college through the MCC Retiree Association that he helped found. “I value this continued involvement at Macomb, which enables me to associate with and appreciate even more my former Macomb colleagues, as well as the current staff.”

Jim Varty, former Dean of Students, is honored for his service as the founding Chair of the MCC Retiree Association by President Jim Sawyer and MCC Foundation Director, Christina Ayar

Legacy Project Keeps Dialogue Flowing on Important Issues

The James Jacobs Civic Engagement Project has brought some of the country’s greatest thinkers to Macomb to spur discussion on timely issues critical to society’s well being. In 2019, it was Larry Summers, noted economist and former Director of the National Economic Council, and Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, investigative reporters who brought down the Nixon presidency. During their visit on February 6, 2019, Woodward and Bernstein shared strong opinions about what was now impeding the legitimate press in its role as the fourth estate, intended to keep government honest. “Social media very often promotes ideas without factually laying out what the truth is,” acknowledged Bernstein. “That makes it increasingly harder to have fact-based debate.”

Funded by JP Morgan Chase & Co. and The Kresge Foundation, these insights into the status of the nation’s economy and freedom of the press resonated with staff, students and the community alike. The speaker lineup filled the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts to capacity with an audience tuned into the state of current affairs. The 2020 lineup promises to be no different.

Thank you sponsors!

It was a Groovy Spring at the Lorenzo Cultural Center

For a few months in 2019, visitors to the Lorenzo Cultural Center on Macomb’s Center Campus were transported to the 1970s through exhibits, presentations, and an original play, all chronicling the decade that saw the end of the Vietnam War, the toppling of a presidency and the splintering of Detroit’s once loud and proud music scene.

The ‘70s: Heavy, Hip and Happenin’ opened on February 27, 2019 and included an exhibit of artifacts on loan from the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library and Museum, Detroit Historical Museum, and Detroit Arsenal of Democracy Museum, as well as from personal collections.

Films released during the decade were shown throughout the series, including All the President’s Men, Monty Python and the Holy Grail, Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory and Breaking Away. There were also free presentations on the decade’s fashion and music, the ending of the Vietnam War, the Nixon presidency, discoveries in space and more.

For the series, The Lorenzo Cultural Center also commissioned Kristen Hanratty, Michigan-based playwright, to write an original play exploring key themes from the 1970s, including war protests, women’s rights and the popularization of disco music. The play, Turmoil and Transition in the 70s, was performed by Detroit-area actors at the cultural center in March and April.
Annual Auto STEAM Days Promotes Manufacturing Careers

Support for Macomb’s Auto STEAM Days is becoming as big as the event itself, with several manufacturers providing funding to help inspire middle, junior and senior high school students to seek out careers in engineering and/or technology.

Nearly 3,000 students took part in Auto STEAM Days, held in early December 2019 at Macomb’s Sports and Expo Center. Brought in by buses from their school districts, they took part in hands-on activities that introduced them to robotics, digital sketching, automotive clay modeling, production design, coding, augmented reality, and skilled trades and apprenticeships. Students and their parents also attended an evening presentation that explored career opportunities in all segments of manufacturing, which might one day lead to a technical position with one of the Auto STEAM Days’ sponsors.

In 2019, more than 20 students were recruited by faculty and counselors from local school districts and were engaged in a variety of hands-on activities, including changing a penny’s color from copper to gold by using a chemical process, freezing a rose with liquid nitrogen and designing and building “cars” using edible materials.

Because of generous donations from General Motors and Bosch, secured by the Macomb Community College Foundation, Macomb’s Center for Advanced Automotive Technology (CAAT) will again be providing to students in grades seventh through ninth to the free camp in Summer 2020 to explore Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Math (STEAM). Held at South Campus, it will be conducted by Macomb math, science, design and construction professions.
