

Status of Hybrid Classes for Fall 2020 Semester (as of 9/7/20)

Hybrid classes will not be returning to campus during the fall semester unless they require on-ground instruction, which includes the use of labs, tools, machinery, simulations or computer software otherwise unavailable to students. The list below indicates those lab classes that have been determined to include an on-ground component for the fall semester and those that have not. This list will be updated as more determinations are made on the status of hybrid classes, so please check back regularly.

When labs are shown only in the online column, there will be no on-ground instruction. When labs are shown in both the on-ground and online columns, they will be delivered in a combination of both formats. When lab kits are indicated, the kits will either be mailed to students or available for curbside pickup. For those classes offered entirely or partially on-ground, please check the Fall Schedule or Search for Sections for days, times and locations.

For more information, contact your instructor.
